Property Description

Get ready to be impressed with this one of a kind, self sustainable farm privately tucked away on 271 acres in the Tinemastes Mountains at an elevation over 800 meters above sea level. This property has got it all and is part of the UNESCO World Heritage Center – it currently operates as a hospitality business and a working coffee farm that is completely “off the grid”. The area is wild, raw and beautiful yet conveniently located only 15 minutes outside of a quaint town. The region’s most popular organic farmer’s market is held here and the beaches of Dominical and the city of San Isidro are approximately 45 minutes away. With a perfect mountain climate, a gorgeous rainforest setting and excellent views of the ocean and valley below, the American Eagle Outfitters clothing company specifically chose this location for a catalog photoshoot. The property itself is a prime destination.
