Property Description

Many of our clients here in southern Costa Rica ask for a nice home that is “walking distance to the beach.” Our usual answer is that along our Pacific coastline, such homes are scarce. This, however, is one of them. The clean, bright contemporary design with high sloped ceiling in the living area allows ambient light to softly illuminate the whole house. The combination of light colors on the walls with lots of glass and a glossy ceiling give the feeling of an arboretum, but with the tropical plants on the outside. Access is easy with all living spaces on one floor. The master suite, along with its en suite bath, has “country views” of pasture lands, trees and mountains. Custom hardwood closet doors accent the large bedroom and specially selected fixtures and tile add a luxurious look to the bath. With ceiling fans and split AC units in the bedrooms and living areas, you can select your comfort level by opening windows and doors, using just the fans, or turning on an AC.
