Property Description

Tamarindo, Tamarindo, Tamarindo. Yep, Tamarindo...that buzz word. This large estate parcel is just a couple minutes away from the center of town. And yes, it is large. It is 57 hectares or just barely over 140 acres. It was originally slated to be a part of the neighboring development Black Stallion Hills way back when. The property has two very large hills and some 'on paper' segregations for future development. This immense property is made up mostly of flat land with two nice hills. Each of them has distant ocean views for watching the sun set while enjoying your local Pilsen/Imperial or a fresh cocktail. There are many flowering trees and a good measure of primary forest sized trees as well. The property, at a personal level, would be perfect for equestrian endeavors, farming, and, well, just enjoying life. However, this large parcel is also apt for development. Smaller parcels could be created on the 984 linear meters (3280 linear feet) of public road front.
