Property Description

Tamarindo Park is a unique eco-friendly community of 400 acres of land in Tamarindo, Costa Rica.Inside Tamarindo Park, you'll find modern tropical homes that blend into the natural surroundings rather than trying to competing with them. Designs integrate garden views and large windows so you can embrace nature rather than be sealed off from it. Behind the designs is renowned architect, Richard Muller. Richard specializes in designing beautiful homes for modern casual living that integrate creative solutions to the challenges presented by the natural environment. The concept integrates modern requirements, with nature, and lifestyle; where permaculture and regenerative ecosystems are integrated.The first phase of the project will consist of 32 homes, with 5 different models, 3 and 4 bedroom options.Every home at Tamarindo Park is a unique work of art, featuring contemporary modern architecture, and handed over to you in a seamless turnkey process.
